MONEY, MONEY!

Money is scarce we know; but scarce as it is people should not neglect to pay for their paper, advertising and job work. It is impossible to run a printing office without money. We hope therefore, our patrons will give strict attention to this notice, and send us the amount due without delay. It is our intention to send a bill within the next four weeks to every man who owes us, whether the amount be much or little, and we hope every one will respond gracefully and punctually.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

It is evident to the close observer of the boiling and seething caldron of politics in this country, that the Democratic party is beating about from post to pillar in search of a leader for the campaign of 1872. The party seems willing to take up with any renegade from the Republican party who willing to serve them with any show or prospect of success. And it is, moreover, willing to renounce for the present, its rebellious secession doctrines, hoping, thereby, to call to its helm a man that will guide its rotten ship to the port of power once more.

Furthermore, the Democratic party manifests a strong disposition to distrust its old leaders, who formerly led it to victory, but latterly only to defeat in all its attempts to break up the Union, distroy the Government, and ruin the country. Its prestige is gone, and it seems to have lost heart of ever riding into power with its sails set to the breeze of negro-slavery, treason and discussion. Its workers and manipulators have a longing after the "spoils of office" like the children of Iseral after the "fleshpots of Egypt" and like them, they should wander forty years in the wilderness of dismay and defeat without even a Caleb or a Joshua to reach the promised land of success. For similar purposes and wicked designs, they are willing to acknowledge the great works of progress and advancement in the cause of liberty, prosperity, and glory of the country, accomplished by the the Republican party until they hold the reins of government, and then they will stop the wheels of progress, curtail liberty, blast our prosperity, tarnish our glory, and dissolve the Union. This has been their cherished and avowed doctrine and purpose since 1861, all through the terrible strife of rebellion, and ever since, down to the "New Departure" by the apostle of treason. Vallandigham. He is dead, but his deeds live after him, and his coadjutors of the Democratic party will, no doubt, make desperate efforts to carry out his purposes to gain power, and then divide and ruin the country.

But let the Republican party stand firm in its principles of right, of patriotism and progress, and it will triumph over all the machinations and tricks of demagogues, and of the enemies of the country, and the cause of freedom, firmness, and confidence in the justice and wisdom of the principles held by the Republican party, will ensure its success. Let all dissensions and strife in its ranks cease, for its mission is not accomplished, and its cause is not only the liberty of the people of this country alone, but of the downtrodden and oppressed of the whole earth. Then, as a party manning and guiding the ship of State of this great nation, let it move forward in the great work of progress and freedom, with a light in its binnacle that shall make glad, not only the people of this country, but of other lands.

The following are the names of the candidates placed in nomination by the Democratic County Convention, which assembled at this place yesterday, the 8th.

For Assembly, P. Gray Meek, of Bellefonte.

For Associate Judges, Capt. Henry Dopp, of Howard, and Col. Wm. Love of Potter.

For Treasurer, Jas. F. Weaver, of Milesburg.

For Commissioner, Samuel F. Foster, of Potter.

For District Attorney, John F. Potter, of Bellefonte.

For Auditor, Robert F. Holmes, of Marion township.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Rachel J. Burnside, widow of the late James Burnside, President judge of this judical district, and eldest daughter of the Hon. Simon Cameron, died at Harrisburg, on the 3d inst. The death of this estimable Lady, whose loss we, of Bellefonte, are called upon to greive, resided in this place for many years, and was one of us, and it may be truly said "that none knew her, but to love her."

To delineate with tolerable fidelity of this excellent woman, would be to produce, in some degree, a personal acquaintance, which, however slight, never failed of producing for her, tribute of esteem. Her charities were extensive. In performing them, she was governed by the pure principles of the Gospel. She felt it a duty which she owed to her God, to devote a considerable portion of her income to charitable purposes, and her love for the christian community and churches of Bellefonte, is manifested in the donation of a splendid stained glass memorial window, costing several hundred dollars, to the new St. John's Episcopal Church of this place. While she ever "considered the cause of the poor," with wisdom and tenderness, and delighted in relieving their distresses; and many are the families that will remember her kindness. But in all her acts of benificence she was careful to avoid ostentation, and from the most conscienteous motives. She made it quite a system to conceal her name as often as it was practiable from those that she extended relief, or remited her contributions for any important object. Her proceedings under the very severe trial of the accendental and sudden death of her beloved husband, exactly corresponded to the character displayed in every act of her life. It was a singular model of meek forbearance, a striking example of that resignation which recognizes the hand of God in the trials of this life. Her love to her Redeemor—His ordinances—to His children was hearty and without dissemulation, she "abhorred that which was evil and cleaved to that which was good." She was so sweet and meek in disposition that she never spoke evil of any one, but was prone to forgive and forget wrongs. But her earthly conflicts are all over and she is now where she so often longed to be, "with her Lord" in her Heavenly Father's Kingdom. Her tomb will be a hallowed spot where great memories will cluster, and visitors may well exclaim.

"Shrich graves as hers are pilgrims shrines,
Shrines to no creed or code confined,
The Delphius vales, the Palestines,
The Meccas of the mind." M.

ARCHBISHOP S. H. ROSECRANS AND THE NEW YORK RIOTS.

Archbishop Rosecrans has published a card in the Ohio State Journal in relation to the New York riots, from which we make the following extracts:

The attempt to make the Catholic church responsible for the late New York riot is unfair and unjust. Those who were fired upon by the police and military were on the spot in defiance of a strict command of their archbishop, given in all the churches of the city the Sunday previous. The feud between the Orange and Ribbon factions, both made up of a faction of the lower order of the Irish people, is now centuries old. Religion was made the pretext, but both parties practically renounced religion in their strife. The New York riot was simply a continuation of that strife. To make the Catholic church responsible for what it forbids, abhors and condemns, is unfair and unjust.

We Catholics desire to be citizens of a free republic. We want nothing for ourselves but what we will do our best to maintain for others. It would be a pleasure to us to see Jesus Christ crucified, honored and loved by all our countrymen, but no pleasure to see any one calling himself a Catholic for fashion's sake or on compulsion. The clergy have no temporal or political design. Their expectations are on the period that shall follow the judgment whence they can suffer patiently, though with regret, the obloquy and unjust hate excited against them by misrepresentations of such scandals as the New York riot.

The Value of Pure Wine in Sickness.—The chief difficulty with reliable wines has been their scarcity and exorbitant prices, but this has been removed by the introduction of a pure native wine, prepared from the Port grape extensively cultivated by Mr. A. Speer of New Jersey. We understand he has submitted his wine to the test of many of our celebrated physicians, and all concur in its purity, medicinal properties, and superiority to the best Port wine. Most of them, to signify their just appreciation of its salutary effects, prescribe it in cases of debility, affections of the kidneys and chronic complaints, requiring a tonic, sudorific or diuretic treatment.—Examiner.

THE ELEMENTS OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

The Democracy of the United States, though rather complex in its character, contains within itself two main elements, differing somewhat as regards the means for the accomplishment of the end, yet having one and the same purpose in view: The overthrow of the Republican party and with it the abrogation of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments. The accomplishment of this end has caused a clashing of ideas, and war of words between them until of late a partial reconciliation seems to have been effected by the Northern Democracy hoisting the old Democratic banner, bearing a new inscription: "The New Democratic Departure." Upon the interpretation of this term it seemed as if the national Democracy would shipwreck when their old mother "Democratic Faith" came to the rescue and gave them her motherly advice: Democrats, you, who are bred of faction and reared in treason, you, who are never wanting in freedom of speech but always in freedom of thought, you, who war not for principles, but for power, you, who possess rights without intelligence to understand them, you, who have entrusted that precious jewel "honesty" to the safe keeping of your renowned leaders, (demagogues) may readily swear to the words, or follow the lead of this "New Departure;" for it is the great privilege of the Democracy to permit itself to be confined to new principles, or to repudiate them whenever the salvation of their mother "Democratic Faith" demands it.

In consequence of this motherly advice both wings of the National Democracy set to work to bring about a harmonious interpretation of the "New Departure." The Southern element of the Democracy, less cowardly than their Northern allies, and with a spirit of bitterness and hatred against the Republican party, not having yet forgotten their late defeat in arms at our hands, are unwilling to surrender any of their Bourbonic doctrines. The Northern element is extremely anxious just now, to take a "New Departure" in order to renew the action from a more favorable stand-point and hence makes the attempt to quiet all differences of opinion by announcing the following Departure: "We recognize the late amendments as accomplished facts which have the color of law as part of the constitution, and as such make up the political situation, but, at the same time we consider it another glorious privilege of the Democracy to denounce these last three amendments (which extend to every citizen of the United States, equal rights, and the means with which to protect them) as a fraud and political farce to which the Democracy need never commit itself and should seek, as expressed in the Oregon platform, to rescind them. The Southern Democracy unanimously answers, "We cordially acquiesce to such an acceptance of the situation as it necessitates no departure from our old mother 'Democratic Faith;' and moreover, we of the Southern Democracy have recognized these amendments long ere our Democratic brethren of the North; for we were made to obey them, and as long as they remain DE FACTO parts of the constitution must be obeyed—in this we adopt the 'New Departure'; further, we have recognized these amendments as accomplished facts," for under the Fourteenth Amendment we have recognized the fact that our best men (former rebel leaders) are disfranchised from office and excluded from participating in public affairs for the welfare of our ownselves instead of that of the nation, as we have done heretofore; further, under the Fifteenth Amendment we have recognized the fact that the "nigger" is permitted to exercise the right of suffrage in every State of this Union—in this, we adopt the "New Departure." But if the Democracy of the North asks us not only to recognize these amendments as accomplished facts but also to acknowledge them as legitimate and regularly ratified, and, perhaps, also to indorse their passage by three-fourths of the States of the Union (while some of us, just about that time were out of it) as constitutional, the Democratic Echo from the South answers: We make no such pledges, in this we repudiate the "New Departure."

Hence the Republican party concurs with both wings of the National Democracy in this, that it recognizes these amendments as accomplished facts; and it further concurs with in this, so will every patriotic citizen as well as rebel, that these amendments will remain accomplished facts only so long as the Democratic party is prevented from wiping them off the pages of the Constitution.

SAMUEL A. BLACK, ESQ.

We see it stated in our eastern exchanges that Samuel A. Black, Superintendent of the Middle Division, Pennsylvania Railroad, is urged for the Presidency of the Cumberland Valley Railroad, the position still held by Mr. Frederick Watts, lately put at the head of the U. S. Agricultural Bureau. We know something of the Cumberland Valley Railroad, and also of Mr. Black. Under the slow management of Watts, that road has been allowed to get into bad repute, as well as out of all repair; and now, that he has gone into the Agricultural Bureau, he ought to get out of the railroad business. Watts could not manage a railroad when he had only that to do; and if he expects to take care of both the Cumberland Valley road and the agricultural business, he will be disappointed and both be irreparably injured.

Mr. Black, of the Middle Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, is just the man to take hold of a road that has been suffered to "run down," and "wind it up" into running order. He did just this same thing for the Bald Eagle Valley railroad, and the people in this region will not soon forget him as a man of energy and wonderful ability in his peculiar line of business. Our friends in the kindred Valley of the Cumberland, could do no better than to secure Black; and if the stockholders in the road referred to, understood their own interests, they would make him President of their road without delay.

THE KU-KLUX IN ALABAMA.

The Alabama "State Journal" of a recent date, has the following editorial remarks:

"We stated in our issue of yesterday morning, in reply to a correspondent, who made the assertion that "no Republican's life is safe in Alabama," that the assertion is untrue, and we would not indorse it. If correspondent, "Traveller," had said that there were certain localities in Alabama where no Republican's life was safe, we would have indorsed the assertion. We believe, and have good reason for so doing, that there are certain counties in Alabama where no Republican can live in safety. But it is wrong and an insult to the good people of Alabama, to charge upon all of them that no Republican's life is safe among them anywhere in the State, when we are daily associating with them, and living in peace with them. Flagrant outrages have been perpetrated upon Republicans in certain portions of the State, quite recently, and we only propose to hold those communities where they are perpetrated, responsible for them. Our columns are open to the honest Republicans of the State, and we desire them to correspond with us and state facts of the condition of affairs. We are in peace here—if it is not so elsewhere, let us know it from responsible Republicans. We desire information upon the subject of outrages. We cannot libel the whole people of Alabama for what a few masked assassins do in certain portions of the State. When outrages are perpetrated write to us, and give responsible authority."

The Chicago Post is an "amusing kind" of paper. Hear it: "The Democracy are very much in the position of the cannibal, Ami Robinson, of whom Barnum made mention in his book on humbugs. After a long debauch, he waked up one day in great wonderment as to his exact locality, and inquired of the bystanders, 'Ami am I, or am I not Ami?' That is the question. Are they themselves, or some other party? In Ohio, Iowa and Pennsylvania, where the new departure has been recognized by conventions, full a third of the voters are rubbing their eyes in utter bewilderment. Is it the old Democratic camp, or have they gone estray? After twelve continous years of denunciation, it is quite the thing to own up point blank, and indorse the opposite side? The chinese puzzle is nothing compared with such a dilemma. If they will freeze, and if they let go they are sure to fall into the ditch. Most of them agree to eat the new party owl, but it is perfectly apparent they do not hanker after it.

Rumors have been circulated a few weeks ago, that Mr. W. J. Hosterman, former Proprietor of the "Cummings House," was killed, by wilfully throwing himself under a train of cars in full motion. We have been credibly informed, that Mr. Hosterman is alive and doing well. and engaged in a tea company. We are pleased to make this correction, for the satisfaction of his friends and relatives. No danger of Billy Hosterman "going under." He will come out all "O. K." in the end, we have no doubt.

NECESSITY OF THE KU-KLUX LAW.

The Louisville "Commercial" of July 6th, publishes a speech delivered by Hon. Geo. M. Thomas, in reply to J. G. Carlisle, his competitor for the position of Lieutenant Governor at Munfordville, Hunt county, Ky. We reproduce the following extract:

"My competitor devotes a full hour of his time to the discussion of the Ku-Kluk bill, which was the time allotted to him at the beginning of the campaign. But I consent to-day that he might take a longer time if he desired it. I say he has devoted one hour of his time to the discussion of the Ku-Klux bill and its various provisions, and has taken occasion to denounce it in the most unmeasured terms. He tells you it was not necessary to pass that law; he says the necessity did not exist in Kentucky, or any of the Southern States, for the passage of such a law. And then he says he denies the right of Congress to pass any law of that kind.

Now, when I left my home in my native county of Lewis, I knew but little about the condition of Kentucky—Where I live we have had but little disturbance. We have seen no occasion for the passage of any such law; none whatever. But when I passed through the counties of Fayette, Madison, Jessamine, Mercer, Lincoln, Garrard and others, I was told where ever I went that men had been murdered in cold blood. The names have been furnished me, the names of innocent men in all these counties. They have been murdered in cold blood by these Ku-Klux throughout the country. When I got into the county of Madison, I was informed that five men had been murdered there within two years. Two men had been hung upon a locust tree in the Court-house yard. When I got into the county of Lincoln, I found that two men had been murdered there, one killed in the streets of the county town by a man who was an officer of the law, and without provocation, as I am informed. When I got to Harrodsburg I was told that a band of masked men marched into that town upon the eve of the election in August last, and commenced an indiscriminate fire upon innocent men in the street. I was told in the county of Madison, that upon the same day, in the evening, a band of lawless men commenced an attack upon the Republicans. This was in the town of Lancaster. Wherever I have gone I have been told of these occurrences. I was told of an occurrence of that kind yesterday in the county of Hardin. I have made the inquiry wherever I have been, what has been done to prevent this? I have made inquiry in Madison, Garrard, and other counties, whether anybody has been arrested for having committed these offenses. I was told in these counties that not a solitary man had been indicated or arrested, and not a man called before the grand jury for the purpose of giving testimony against these scoundrels throughout the State. We hear of scoundrels going to the houses of peaceable, quiet citizens at the dark hour of night, taking them from their wives and children, and hanging them upon trees in the adjoining woods. We hear of cases of that kind all over the State; yet we don't hear that the laws have been enforced against these men. Why don't you enforce the laws if you have them? Why not suppress this lawlessness throughout the State? Why not make some effort to do it? Why don't you call witnesses before the grand jury? Why not investigate these causes whenever you hear of them?

THE "NEW DEPARTURE."

"The war is a failure."—[Valandigham at New York in 1864.]

The Amendments are "unconstitutional, null and void."—[Vallandigham at Chicago in 1868.]

"The war was not a failure, and the Amendments are constitutional."—[Vallandigham at Dayton and Columbus in 1871.]

What is such a concession to the march of events, but a tardy confession that the Republican party is right? The Democrats have been trying to get office for the last ten years by opposing the Republicans, but finding that the people "don't see it," they at last resort to the brilliant device of donning the Republican uniform themselves. "Give us office," they say, "and we'll be anything you please."—Mercer Dispatch.

BIDING THEIR TIME.

The Mobile Register in an article replying to certain strictures on Mr. A. H. Stephens in the Montgomery Advertiser, has the following:

Mr. Stephens says, in the article deprecated by the Advertiser:

"We say in advance, however, that we shall never recognize as a political friend or ally, let him hail from any quarter he may, any one who maintains that the openly confessed usurpations attending the reconstruction acts have all been settled 'in the manner and by the authority constitutionally appointed' and who shall deprecate any arraignment of either of these acts or their authors, before the bar of public reason for popular condemnation. All such are no friends of ours—of our cause or the liberties of this country. A. H. S."

"This is Mr. Stephens' strongest expression on the point, and yet it does not exclude from the category of 'friends of ours—of our cause, or the liberties of this country,' even the editor of the Advertiser, who has accepted 'the new departure' in its broadest signification. Nor does it exclude the New York World even. And why? Because neither the Advertiser nor the World, nor the Pennsylvania and Ohio Convention, nor Vallandigham himself, have denied that the new amendments were unauthorized usurpation—were, in fact, bayonet amendments. The only difference between Mr. Stephens (and the Register) and the Advertiser and World, &c., is as to the time when an 'arraignment of either of these acts or their authors before the bar of public reason for popular condemnation' shall be made. The 'new departure' advocates equally deprecating and condemning these acts with Mr. Stephens, maintain that such an arraignment now would be followed by disastrous results, and the re-election of the Radical party to power—than which nothing would be so unfortunate for the country at large, or so terrible to the peace and rights of the South. To support this theory, in addition to the argument of the impolicy and danger of trusting such an issue to the people of the North at this time, it is further urged, that, practically, there is nothing to be adjudicated on the question of the amendments in the next presidential election. In other words, that a change of rulers at Washington is an essential preliminary to whatever changes and reforms are to be made in the premises, and that to make a bother over the matter now is merely to beat the wind, or to call 'spirits from the vast deep.'"

THE KU-KLUX-KLAN.

The attempted denial by Democratic leaders in the South and throughout the country, of the existence or this organization as a political body, is now completely exploded by the reports of the public press, by private letters, and by the investigation of the Congressional Committee. The Klan does exist, no fact is more fully proven, its power and influence are conceded. But it is more than a full year before the Presidential election, and the aim of the Democracy will be, is to have the work done and the agency disbanded, if possible, before that event. The odium to die out with the organization. At least they hope to be in a condition next year to treat it as a thing of the past.

Republicans must, then, expose it now, unearth it now, denounce it now, defeat it now—show it up to the people; publish its crimes, prove its enormities, its terrorisms, its conspiracies. Let it not sleep for one moment in the forgetfulness of repose. Make a record of its atrocities, and keep that record before the country, tell with one united voice, that the friends of justice shall cry out its doom, and with an overwhelming vote, decree its extinction.

CORN SONG.

BY JOHN G. WHITTIER.

Heap high the farmer's wintry hoard!
Heap high the golden corn;
No richer gift has Autumn poured
From out her lavish horn.

Let other lands exulting, glean
The apple from the pine;
The orange from its glossy green,
The cluster from the vine.

We better love the hardy gift
Our rugged vales bestow,
To cheer us when the storm shall drift
Our harvest fields with snow.

Through vales of grass and flowers,
Our ploughs their furrows made,
While on the hills the sun and showers
Of changeful April played.

We dropped the seed o'er hill and plain,
Beneath the sun of May,
And frightened from our sprouting grain
The robber crows away.

All through the long bright days of June,
Its leaves grew bright and fair,
And waved in hot midsummer noon,
Its soft and yellow hair.

And now with Autumn's moonlit eyes,
Its harvest time is come,
We pluck away its frosty leaves,
And bear its treasures home.

Then richer than the fabled gifts
Apollo showered of old,
Fair hands the broken grains shall sift,
And knead its meal of gold.

Let vapid idlers loll in silk,
Around the costly board;
Give us the bowl of samp and milk,
By homespun beauty poured.

Then shame on all the proud and vain,
Whose folly laughs to scorn,
The blessings of our hardy grain,
Our wealth of golden corn.

Let Earth withhold her goodly root;
Let mildew blight the rye;
Give to the worm the orchard's fruit,
And wheat fields to the fly.

But let the good old crop adorn
The hills our father trod;
Still let us for His golden corn
Send up our thanks to God.

NARROW GAUGE RAILWAYS.

THE COMPARATIVE ABILITIES AND CAPACITIES OF NARROW AND WIDE GAUGE LOCOMOTIVES AND CARS—RAILS, LOCOMOTIVES, CURVES, GRADES AND SPEED, &C., &C.

[From the U. S. Railroad Mining Register.]

NEED OF A CHEAPER SYSTEM OF RAILWAY TRANSPORTATIONS.

The literature of the subject is fast getting to be unmanageable. But as experiments on long lines are beginning to take the place of treatises in long columns, we may wait for statistics to settle theoretical disputes. Only to mention a few of the writings which have recently been pressed upon the public notice, will give a lively idea of the interest which the business world, as well as the technical world, takes in the theme. We gave last week a short account of the Denver and Santa Fe line in the West; and now we learn that the line connecting the West Branch of the Susquehanna river with the Upper Juniata county, will be another large experiment in narrow gauge. A multitude of other projects are announced on newspaper authority. Money is plenty and seeks investment. No doubt this furore for narrow gauge roads will cost somebody dear experience. But it will be worth all the money thrown away injudiciously, if it be found out exactly how money may be judiciously expended on some cheaper medium of railway transportation than our present system, in which the dead weight dragged about eats up so large a percentage of the profits; by which the first planting of capital is so costly that its fruits, in dividend, are sometimes scrubby and sour enough. We need some sort of railways that can spread the wealth, convenience, activity and intelligence concentrated in cities, more widely and generally over the country; something which shall afford people the combined advantages of the railroad and the turnpike; the ease and speed of the one, with the number and cheapness of the other. If the trials now making with a narrow gauge result in success, they who anticipate the commencement of a new era in business history may not be fanatical enthusiasts.

The comparative abilities of narrow and wide gauge locomotives, and the comparative

both passenger and freight, are essential elements in discussing the propriety of narrowing the gauge. Last week we gave some data respecting the cars built for the Denver line. We appeal now some data for estimating the power of the new locomotives:

The Montezuma, 3 foot gauge, has 20,000 pounds on her drivers; weighs 25,000; tender, 15,000; total weight, 40,000. Compare a Pennsylvania Railroad locomotive, 4 feet 8½ inch gauge, with 40,000 pounds on her drivers; weight, 65,000; tender, 40,000; total weight, 105,000.

Montezuma (Denver and Rio Grande Narrow Gauge Railroad engine) pulls 210 passengers, filling six passenger cars, weighing each 16,000 pounds. (=96,000), and one baggage car, (8,000 lbs.), which with engine and tender (40,000 pounds) makes up an aggregate load of 144,000 pounds, or 72 tons.

The Pennsylvania Railroad engine pulls 220 passengers filling 4 passenger cars, weighing each 40,000 pounds. (=160,000), one baggage car, (28,000) engine and tender (105,000), total weight of train 293,000 pounds, 146½ tons.

That is, the 4 feet 8½ inch gauge train must weigh a little more than twice as much as a 3 feet gauge train, for the sake of carrying only 10 more passengers. The dead weight is increased 105 per cent. and the live freight only 4 per cent. The Montezuma having full one half the traction force of the heavy engine will of course take her train wherever the heavy engine can take her train, which weighs twice as much.

Several narrow gauge roads connected with iron furnaces or mining enterprise in this and adjacent States are worked with small engines of classes 1 and 2. These roads, on which are in use engines weighing from 18,000 to 20,000 pounds (being 9,000 to 10,000 pounds on each pair of wheels,) are laid with rails weighing from 39 to 40 pounds to the yard. Those using the 30 pound rail consider it heavy enough. The joints are made with chairs or fish plates. The chairs cost about 30 cents each. Fish plates 13 inches long with four bolts and nuts for a 30 pound rail can be made for about 45 cents per joint. The spikes are one-half inch square, 5½ inches long, and weigh 40 pounds to the hundred. The cross ties are about 5 feet long for a 2½ feet gauge, and 5 to 6 inches face and depth, and are laid from 2 feet to 2 feet 6 inches from centre to centre.

A NARROW GAUGE LOCOMOTIVE.

A narrrow gauge locomotive with driving wheels 36 inches in diameter and cylinders with 16 inches stroke, at a speed of 36 miles per hour, develops the same speed of piston as a full gauge locomotive with 5 feet driving wheels, and cylinders with 24 inches stroke, at a speed of 49 miles per hour. With driving wheels 40 inches in diameter and 16 inches stroke of piston, the narrow gauge locomotive develops the same total travel of piston in going one mile as does the full gauge locomotive with driving wheels 60 inches in diameter and 24 inches stroke of piston. It is evident, therefore, that equal speeds are attainable on the narrow as on the full gauge. The angle of stability of the narrow gauge locomotive with 3 feet driving wheel is somewhat greater than that of the 4 feet 8½ gauge locomotive with 5 feet driving wheel.

For narrow gauge lines of any considerable length and intended for both freight and passenger traffic, a gauge of 3 feet seems to have been generally agreed upon. If a system of narrow gauge roads is to be constructed in this country (and such now seems to be the tendency), it is manifestly important that a uniformity of gauge should be established. The 3 feet gauge has the decided preference of practical railroad managers and engineers who have given this subject attention, and as this width has very important advantages in the designing of locomotives and other rolling stock, it is believed that its general adoption for the narrow gauge system would be adventageous. We may mention that the Denver and Rio Grande Railway, now in process of construction for 80 miles of its projected length, is to be of 3 feet gauge; and the Pennsylvania and Sodus Bay Railroad, another narrow gauge line 83 miles in length, has also adopted this gauge after careful investigation.

It is by no means generally comprehended that narrow gauge railways are no new thing, but have been in use in several countries for some time.

N. Sprague—also issue a circular respecting for above and underground work, from which we extract the following paragraphs. They confirm what has already been testified by others:

While no long roads of narrow gauge are actually in operation in the United States, there have been built during a few years past a larger number of short roads. For a great many of these Smith & Porter furnished locomotives, and it is to their work that we beg to call your attention. The facts stated are kindly furnished us by those owning and running the locomotives.

The roads which show the best results are from 36 inches to 42 inches gauge. Narrower gauges do not diminish the cost of construction and equipment to any proportionate extent, and are, on some accounts, objectionable. Were the country through which the road is to run very hilly, and were the survey to require a great amount of excavation and rock cutting,, these objections would likely be more than counterbalanced. Our locomotives, however, are built to any gauge.

The rail which commends itself for real economy of service is the common T rail. Wooden rails are perfectly practicable, and we adapt our locomotives of every class to them with success, but the loss of power is from three-eighths to one-half at least, and though the first cost is perhaps less in a well wooded country—distant from rail mills—the cost for repairs is heavier. Strap rrils, of sufficient weight for service, are nearly as costly as the T rail, and are very difficult to keep tied to the stringer under the continuous wear of rolling stock. Light T rails are now extensively manufactured in Pittsburgh and Johnstown, and in many other places.

These locomotives, weighing about 13,000 pounds, have been running on a 16 pound rail for many months, and the rail shows no sign of more than ordinary wear. There are locomotives of 22,000 pounds weight, which have been running for over two years on a 21 pound rail. Rails from 10 to 35 or 40 pounds per yard can be bought for $75 per gross ton, to 3¾ cents per pound.

In the matter of curves there can be no trouble, as these locomotives are actually turning on curves of only 35 feet radius.

The lighter the grades can be made, the greater will be the tractive power of the locomotive, and the less the train upon the road. But the proportionate loss of power and increase of wear is much less with the narrow gauge than with ordinary roads. Our six ton engines are regularly hauling 21 gross tons up a 125 feet grade on a curvature of 10 degrees, and 100 tons on a level, at a speed of 8 miles per hour. Our larger locomotives have proportionately greater speed. One of our seven ton engines on a 44 gauge is hauling over 40 tons up a grade of 140 feet to the mile. A twelve ton locomotive is hauling on a 4 feet 8½ inch gauge, 25 tons up a grade of 264 feet to the mile, which is just one-half the work of a 33 ton, six driver locomotive on the same road. This showing is the more remarkable as the road is 7 miles in length, and rises in this distance 1,200 feet, the steepest grade being 264 feet, and the average grade being from 200 to 211 feet. Our fourteen ton locomotives of 4 feet 8½ inch gauge, with proportionate power on grades, handle with ease 800 tons on a level.

Where actual weight of fuel has been reported to us, from 700 to 1,000 pounds of coal are used per day, on the 6 and 10 ton locomotives.

In all these statements we have endeavored to keep strictly below the actual power of these engines on roads as we have found them, generally built without great care, and not in such a manner as to secure the most effective work from machinery. The rolling stock, also, is often of inferior make, and very wasteful of power from excessive friction.

The results thus arrived at will, we believe, be regarded by you as of greater value than if we merely estimated the power from the dimensions of our locomotives. In no case have we gone beyond the amount that these engines are capable of regularly performing.

We shall speedily duplicate all the old patterns, in all from 12 to 15 complete sets, build inside or outside connections, and with tanks or tenders, as desired, and conform to any dimensions as to hight and width required on account of tunnels or mine entrances. Our mine locomotives are built only 60 inches wide, and less than 60 inches in extreme hight.

In the circular letter of Mr. Howard Schuyler, dated June 25th, he says that is settled by Mr. Baird's figures, the usual speed of twenty-five to thirty miles per hour being easily attainable on the three feet gauge.

Returning to the question of dead weight, which, after all, is that which usually negatives the calculations of engineers and machinists, Mr. Schuyler says that the carrying and hauling capacities of his narrow gauge rolling stock "would be good showing even if (as assumed) the cars are always full; but unfortunately this is far from being the case. Statistics show that on full gauged roads, the proportion of dead to paying weight is as four to one. In other words, the average load carried in each car is but one-fourth its capacity." We cannot forbear giving all the concluding paragraphs of this circular:

It is not unreasonable to expect from the smaller size of the cars, which should lessen this tendency at least fifty per cent., that this should not occur on the three feet gauge, but allowing that it will, and we still have the following results:

On full gauge, with load as above of 1,440 tons, we get—
Weight of cars..... 1,152 tons.
Weight of freight..... 288 tons.
On 3 feet gauge, ith load as above of 722 tons, we get—
Weight of cars..... 444 tons.
Weight of freight..... 278 tons,
or within 10 tons of the paying matter hauled by an engine of twice the power.

If comparisons of gross tonage are now made, the immense saving in cost of operating such roads, can be readily perceived, for the above is not merely theory.

The foregoing will suggest to you also how the great economy in construction is effected.

The weight of iron is generally regulated by the heaviest weight on any single wheel, this is invariably on driving wheels of engines. Conditions of speed, &c., remaining the same, if half this weight be taken from driving wheels the same actual duty still being performed, the weight of iron can be reduced one-half, and still retains as great or greater proportionate strength; the hight of rail being reduced but one-fourth, the head and flange remaining of proportionate weight (one-half that of full gauged rail,) the greatest reduction being made in thickness of web, where strength counts for little in supporting power.

Weight and cost of bridging as regulated also by greatest weight of trains can be materially reduced.

Machine shops, round houses, car shops, can be made smaller, and machinery lighter by nearly thirty per cent.

Graduation in plain or comparatively smooth countries is reduced thirty per cent., in rough countries, fifty per cent., and in mountainous regions it amounts often to a difference between entire practicability and impossibility as between the two gauges.

A COMPARISON OF COST.

As a comparison of cost, we may take the Denver extension of the Kansas Pacific Railway, built under the same engineering supervision as the Denver and Rio Grande. The character of work on the two roads being much the same, though that on the Dever and Rio Grande is somewhat the heaviest.

The Kansas Pacific uses a rail weighing 56 pounds per yard. The Denver and Rio Grande using a rail weighinfi 30 pounds per yard. Kansas Pacific cost per mile, with equipment, about $23,500; Denver and Rio Grande cost per mile, with equipment, about $13,500. About these proportions may be expected to hold good in any country not mountainous.

I think it will be plain to you from this, that these roads are adapted not merely as branches or feeders to full gauged lines, but may in themselves form trunk lines, to which branches of same gauge may be constructed from regions where the traffic is not sufficient to repay the large outlay required for a broader gauge. The confidence which this system of roads has inspired is shown by the manner in which capitalists have already come forward to aid the Denver and Rio Grande in its plan of building a main line of nearly 900 miles in length, without Government, State, or local aid, through some of the new but naturally rich districts of the West. We do not claim in the first outset to have attained perfection, but we do claim to have at least given practical value to a theory which American enterprise and invention will yet develop to something near the perfect solution of the problem of cheap transportation.

Wood's Household Magazine for August, continues to demonstrate the wonderful success which has attended this periodical during the past four years. Its motto seems to be "How Much for How Little;" for there is no other Magazine in the world, which gives so much for so little money. James Parton, Phœbe Cary, Dr. Dio Lewis, Rev. Thomas K. Beecher, Dr. W. W. Hall and Gail Hamilton are regular contributors. Among its occasional contributors are Harriet Beecher Stowe, Horace Greeley, Brick Pomeroy, Mary Clemmer Ames, Joel T. Headely and John G. Saxe.

The publishers have not only procured the very best literary talent, but they have secured such a variety and adaptation of matter as make it a general favorite among all classes. It blends amusement with instruction in a way to enlighten the understanding and develop the affections; and its monthly visits are welcomed alike by the young, the middle-aged and the old.

We would advise every one of our subscribers to at once address the publishers, S. S. Wood & Co. Newburgh, N. Y., who will mail three month's numbers of the Magazine free to every person who shall furnish his address.

A NOBLE BOY.—A crippled beggar was striving to pick up some old cloth that had been thrown from a window, when a crowd of rude boys gathered about him mimicking his awkward movement and hooting at his helplessness and age. Presently a noble little fellow came up, and pushing through the crowd helped the poor crippled man to pick up his gifts and place them in a bundle, slipping a piece of silver into his hand as he was running away, when a voice far above him said, "Little boy with a straw hat, look up." A lady, leaning from an upper window, said earnestly, "God bless you my little fellow; God will bless you for that." As he walked along he thought of the poor beggar's grateful look; of the lady's smile and approval; and last, and better than all, he could almost hear his Heavenly Father whispering, "Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy." Little reader, when you have an opportunity of doing good and feel tempted to neglect it, remember the "little boy with the straw hat."

HERE is the most dog goned affectionate sample of amatory poetry that we have ever seen:—

When old Carle sits in Sally's chair,
O, don't I wish that I was there!
When her fairy fingers pat his head,
O, don't I wish it was me instead!
When Sally's arms his neck imprison,
O, don't I wish my neck was his'n!
When Sally kisses Carlo's nose,
O, don't I wish that I were those!

Paper Collars.

The Boston Commercial Bulletin says: "The paper collar business grows in importance yearly. The production in Boston in 1869 was 60,000,000 collars; in 1870 it was 75,000,000, and the rate for 1871 is 150,000,000. The profits do not participate in this increase. On the contrary, the competition is so close that it is only in improved machinery and prudent close-working of stock that a per centage is secured. One of the largest manufacturing dealers asserts that if he could save one-eighth of an inch to each collar on his waste paper, beyond the savings of any other maker, he should consider that eighth of an inch sufficient profit on his business.

"When paper collars were first introduced, they were in boxes of one hundred at $5. Subsequently, to secure the public interest and a general trial, they were tied in bunches of ten, and sometimes afterwards put in round boxes for the accommodation of travelers. It was at this time that the novel advertisements made their appearance, reading: "It costs 75 cents a dozen to wash linen collars, which, at seven collars a week, is 43 cents, or $22 a year; 365 paper collars are sold for $5." The recent perfection of linen finished collars has increased the sale of fine goods very heavily. Hence the incentive to dress nice stocks in handsome packages is legitimate, while at the same time it affords to the manufacturer a better margin for profit. The price of collars now ranges from $4 to $35 per 1,000. The amount of capital invested by eleven New Eegland manufacturers is about $30,000,000 varying in individual cases from $30,000 to $500,000.

"STOP MY PAPER."—One of our exchanges has the following allegory, which we commend to the careful consideration of those gentlemen who, the moment they see anything which displeases them in the columns of their local journal, rush to the printing office and cry out, "Stop my paper."

"A certain man hit his toe and fell headlong to the ground. He was vexed and under the influence of anger and self-sufficiency he kicked the earth right saucily. With imperturable gravity he looked to see the earth itself dissolve and come to naught. But the earth remained, and only his poor foot was injured in the encounter. This is the way of man. An article in a newspaper touches him in a weak spot, and forthwith he sends to stop his paper. With great complacency he looks to see the crash, when he finds he only hit his own toe against a world that does not perceptibly feel the shock, and injures no one but himself."

WERE the question asked of each individual, whether he would perfer to live or die early, it is not difficult to guess which way the votes would run; but it is, nevertheless, paradox, that practically nine out of every ten people act as though their sole object was to ruin their health and shuffle off their mortal coil as soon as possible.

How nearly do all of us, in some respects, resemble befogged boats? The stream of life hides its further band. We steer across it, scarcely knowing where we go. If the vapor lifts occasionally to give an assurance to our faith, it soon lets down its robe again, and we rnn drowsily and unseeing upon the shores.

A CLERGYMAN asked some children. "Why do we say in the Lord's prayer, 'Who art in heaven,' since God is everywhere?" He saw a little drummer boy, who looked as if he could give an answer, and turned to him for it: "Well, little soldier what do you say?" "Because it's headquarters."

THE extravagant tendencies of the present generation, suggest to a clergyman the inquiry whether it would not be better to devote all of one's energies to learning to live on a very small income, than to devote all of one's energies in struggling and waiting for a large income?

A thick-headed squire being worsted by Sydney Smith in an argument, took his revenge by exclaiming: "If I had a son who was an idiot, by Jove, I'd make him a parson!" "Very probable," replied Sydney; "but I see that your father was of a different mind."

JOURNALISM is making a rapid advance in Russia. Fifteen years ago there were only five newspapers in the empire, leaving out the Baltic provinces. At the present time the periodical publications of Russia reach the number of three hundred.

A HIDDEN light soon becomes dim, and if it be entirely covered up, will expire for want of air. So it is with hidden religion; it must go out of sight. There cannot be a Christian whose light in some aspect does not shine.

CASUAL thoughts are sometimes of great value. One of these may prove the key to open for us a yet unknown apartment in the palace of truth, or a yet unexplorsd tract in the paradise of sentiment that environs it.

WINTER, which strips the leaves from around us, makes us see the distant regions they formerly concealed; so does old age rob us of our enjoyment only to exchange the prospect for eternity before us.

Medical.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseasses of the Throat and Lungs, Such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Coughs, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to cold and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgements we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remidies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either residence in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the Ague Cure daily

For Liver Complaints, arise from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Billous Disorders and Liver complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Know all men by these presents. That, on this, the Twentieth day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-six, personally came Joseph Haydrick to me known as such, and being duly sworn deposed as follows: "That he is the sole general agent for the United States and dependencies thereof for preparations or medicines known as Dr. Maggiel's Pills and Salve, and that the following certificates are verbatim copies to the best of his knowledge and belief.

JAMES SMEITRE, Notary Public,
[L.S.] 14 Wall St. New York.

June 1st, 1866.

DR. MAGGIEL:—I take my pen to write you of my great relief and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your medicine. Oh, Doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, and am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you, and hope you will not take it amiss. JAMES MYERS,
116 Avenue, D.

This is to certify that I was discharged from the army with Chronic Diarrhœa, and have been cured by Dr. Maggiel's Pills.
WILSON HARVEY,
NEW YORK, April 7, 1866. 27 Pitt Street.

The following is an interesting case of a man employed in an Iron Foundry, who, in pouring melted iron into a flask that was damp and wet, caused an explosion. The melted iron was thrown around and on him in a perfect shower, and he was burnt dreadfully. The following certificate was given to me, by him, about eight weeks after the accident:

NEW YORK, Jan. 11, 1866.

My name is Jacob Hardy; I am an Iron Founder. I was badly burnt by hot iron in November last; my burns healed, but I had a running sore on my leg that would not heal: I tried Maggiel's Salve and it cured me in a few weeks. This is all true and anybody can see me at Jackson's Iron Works, 3d Avenue.

WHAT WILL HE DO WITH IT?

The present extraordinary attitude of the Southern Democracy, with reference to what has become so well known as the "New Departure," suggests the grim homely and forcible response of the old countryman to the question in the marriage service of his daughter, when the clergyman asks: "Who giveth this woman to be married to this man?" "Well sir, said the old man, I am called to do it, although it do go agin the grain. I wanted her to marry Bill Plowser, who has twice the money o' that there man."

So of these Democrats, notwithstanding the vigorous kicks, struggles and protests of Jeff Davis & Co., followed by their more devoted partisans. They are "called to do it, although it do go agin the grain." The great leaders, the departed Vallandigham, the Tammany chiefs the magnates of the party, have resolved on this union of all the incongruous elements of modern Democracy under the marriage contract of the "New Departure" and the old fathers of secession who wanted her to marry State Rights, Free Trade, or some other possessing twice the Democratic capital "o' this 'ere man," forced by circumstance—and by Republican victories—into acquiescence in accomplished facts, and seeing no other prospect in future for their hopes except through the gates of the New Departure, squeeze themselves in crying out as they press one after another. "I am called to do it, although it do go "terribly" agin the grain."

DONT "DEPART" WORTH A CENT.

The Democratic papers of Missouri from one end of the State to the other, are raising a universal howl over the Vallandigham Departure, and swear "By the Eternal" that they won't swallow any such stuff.

As a fair sample of the sentiment of the Democratic papers of that State, we copy the following from the "Caucasian" published at Lexington:

"OUR MOTTO.

Never Despair of the Republic!

OUR PLATFORM:

The Constitution of 1860, and the Rights of the States!

OUR DOCTRINES:

This is a White Man's Government, Made by White Men, for White Men and their Posterity Forever! Down with the XVth Bedamnedment!

Total Repudiation of the Monstrous Yankee War Debt—Accursed Unconstitutional Burden, accumulated by an Unconstitutional Mob, styling itself a Congress, for the accomplishment of an Unconstitutional and horrid purpose!

Down with Bondholders and Taxes!

Subordination of the Military to the Civil Authorities! Down with the Satraps!

Equal Taxation and the Rightful Representation of all the States, or Another Rebellion?

Revolution must be met by counter-revolution—force by force—violence by violence, and usurpation should be overthrown, if need be, by the Bayonet!"

NARROW GAUGE.—The first "narrow-gauge" passenger cars ever built in the United States were recently turned out at Wilmington, Delaware, for the road now constructing between Denver and Colorado City. The cars are three feet gauge, 25 feet in length, 7 feet in width and 10 feet 6 inches in height, weight 15,000 pounds, and will comfortably seat 34 passengers. Every effort has been made to keep the centre of gravity as low as practicable. The main sills are distant 27 inches from the rails, which is eighteen inches less than customary on the broad-gauge roads. The interior is of black walnut, beautifully finished, with silver-plated hat and coat hooks and silver mounted lamps, comfortable closets, neat and serviceable water coolers, and heated by patent wood stoves. Along one side extend a row of double seats, and on the other side are found single ones. The cars are well ventilated, built in saloon style, and have an inside height of 8 feet 6 inches. The "smoking car" is somewhat different in construction, the seats being placed in the center, and the entrances being from both ends and sides. The passenger carriage is run on four-wheel trucks, whilst the smoking and baggage cars are run on two axles each. These latter are somewhat smaller than the passenger, and weigh only 6,750 pounds.

All the lands belonging to the Union Pacific Railroad in Dodge county, Nebraska, are advertised for sale for non-payment of taxes.

LET THE AMERICAN PEOPLE PONDER.

KU-KLUX DIABOLISM.

ELEVEN PREGNANT FACTS BROUGHT TO LIGHT BY THE CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE.

ITS DEMOCRATIC PATERNITY, ITS HELLISH FEATURES AND PARTY PURPOSE.

The Congressional Committee investigating the Ku-Klux villainy—a sub-committee in Washington, and another sub-committee in South Carolina—have now been in daily session more than two months, and have had before them many scores of witnesses from all sections of the late Insurrectionary States—men of both high and humble station—Presiding Elders, Preachers, ex-Members of the Federal Congress, ex-Generals of both Armies, Governors and ex-Governors, Judges, Solicitors, Sheriffs, Revenue Officers, Officers of the Army, Postmasters, School Teachers, Repentant and Nonrepentant members of Ku Klux Klans, and dozens of their maimed and suffering victims, black and white.

And what has this patient and thorough investigation established—and established beyond all future cavil and question? These atrocious Facts:

1. That all the late Insurrectionary Right and hate Rapine are due the faithful men of this Committee, who, forgetting their own ease, have so industriously devoted these hot months to States, and generally diffused, though not found in every County, is an oath-bound Secret Organization, working only at night, and its members always in disguise, with Officers, Signs, Signals, Pass-words, Grips, and all the necessary paraphernalia, with the Pledged and Sworn purpose of putting down the Republican and putting up the Democratic Party; known in different localities among the initiated by different names, but everywhere recognized by the general cognomen "Ku Klux."

2. That the organization came into being a few months previous to the last Presidential Election, during which canvass it was in its most vigorous condition, but is now through all the South, with more efficient discipline and effective direction than ever, reviving, in preparation for the next Presidential campaign, when, as they told one of their victims in Tennessee a few weeks since, "no d——d Radical voting is to be allowed in any Southern State, by black or white."

3. That this Ku Klux organization is the premeditated and determined scheme for carrying the South at the next election of President, and so, by securing the entire electoral vote of that section, make sure the election of the Democratic nominee.

4. That the officers and establishers of these "Dens" (as they appropriately call their separate bands) are the leading and active Democratic politicians of the South.

5. That the scheme has the hearty good-will of a large section of the Democratic Party in all those States, and the acquiescence of nearly the entire Party.

6. That the direct and chief purpose of the organization, as sworn by all the Victims, as the assertion uniformly made to them by these midnight assassins, and corroborated by the universal testimony of the repentant and divulging members of the Order, is this: The putting down of the Republican and the putting up of the Democratic Party.

7. That while the Democratic and Ku Klux Witnesses on their direct examination usually deny the political purpose of the Order, asserting that the Ku Klux are a social necessity growing out of the abolition of the old Patrol; that they have to ride the country to "keep the Niggers in their place," that under the influence of Radical Legislation and Methodist Preaching the Niggers are liable to become saucy," and without an occasional Ku-Klux visit would "begin to think themselves as good as white folks;" and that these frequent floggings, and an occasional murder, are necessary to maintain such a state of morals among the Blacks as will permit the vice-hating Whites to live in their neighborhood; yet, on the cross-examination, these Witnesses also very generally, as well as very reluctantly, confess that the intimidation of Republican voters is a prominent and not to be regretted result.

8. That to secure this purpose, the putting down of the Republican and the putting up of the Democratic Party, Intimidation is the grand measure—the intimidation of Republican voters, black and white, but especially the humble and defenceless, by midnight Raids; by burning houses and stores, and the destruction of crops; by whippings of such extreme cruelty as often to end in death; by most indecent and painful Maiming; by assissination and murder in such cowardly manner and with such devilish device as may strike terror into whole counties, and bring down the Republican vote from two or three thousand to less than a single dozen.

9. That "School teahcers," and "Preachers of the Methodist Church North," seems to be the especial abhorrence of these Democratic Assassins; and hundreds of school houses and Methodist Churches have been given to the flames; and Christendom will stand agbast when it is made known the scores of School teachers and Methodist Preachers, who, by this Democratic agency, within these three years, have been Whipped! Shot! Hung! and, in some instances, it is believed, Burned at the Stake!

10. That in nearly one-half the States of this Union this work of hell is now going on, night by night—every month extending the range of its bloody operations, and fearfully multiplying the number of its victims!

11. That it is solely and immediately in the service of the Democratic Party a large portion of the party South heartily approving—large numbers of the party North attempting its palliation by excuse, and its shelter from scorn by covering up or denying its crimes, as if cowardly Assassination could be palliated, and brutal Murder excused—and the Democratic Party throughout the and rejoicing in its promise of help. So, either by open and acknowledged action, or by the no less criminal and the more cowardly participation of extenuating and shielding the crime, the Party, South and North, become before the people and before God equal sharers in the responsibility.

Out of the mouths of more than two hundred witnesses is every syllable of this established; and more than ten thousand of the shroudless Dead, from hidden places by wayside, in swamp and mountain, and from the sleepless ashes of fired homes, shout their ghastly Amen!

A single instance of these thousand Outrages perpetrated upon an American citizen on foreign soil, would be thought ample cause for War; and our entire Navy would hasten to enforce the Nation's indignation. And such abuse as is daily meted out to these humble Methodist Preachers, if offered one of our Missionaries on heathen ground, would arouse the whole American church until every mind was laden with demands for "Protection."

The thanks of all citizens who love Right and hate Rapine are due the faithful men of this Committee, who, forgetting their own case, have so industriously devoted these hot months to the unearthing of this giant Villainy.

Christian men of our country! Humane men! All decent men, we appeal to you! Is a Party worthy of life in this land which seeks supremacy through such hell-born measures?

Drunkenness and its Curses—No. 19.

BY REFORMATION.

Wherefore, if meat make my brother to offend, I will eat no flesh while the world standeth, lest I make my brother to offend, 1 Cor. viii. v. 13. Let us place ourselves, in imagination, near to the throne of God, and what do we behold? A number of needy suppliants returning daily to his throne, a large proportion of whom are as unmindful of each other as if each came from a different world, and represented a distinct race of beings, as completely absorbed in their respective interests as if the welfare of the species depended on their individual success. There, where each should think of all, and feel himself blended with the great whole, he virtually disowns kindred with all, deserts the common interest, and strives for himself alone. Now, mark well the meaning of these words. They come and lay their hands upon the springs of an agency, which, if put in motion, would diffuse happiness through the world, but they leave that agency unsolicited and unmoved, and consequently the flood-gates of death are left open upon us, and the burning lava of destruction spread through this land of Gospel light, under the cover of carnal legality—the license law. The blessed God calls them into his presence, partly that they might catch the radiance of his throne, and transmit it to a world immersed in the shadow of death; but, provided they catch a ray of that light themselves, the gloom of the world may remain unrelieved. He points out the infinity of their resources in himself, gives them access to more than they need for themselves in order that they may go and instrumentally administer to the wants of others. He calls them to his throne as a royal priesthood, as intercessors for the race, but instead of imploring the divine attention to the wants of the world, each of them virtually calls it off from every other object, to consecrate it upon himself.

He has so laid his vast and gracious plans, that he can be enjoyed fully, only in communion, in the great assembly of heaven, but in contravention of these plans, each one seeks to contract for himself, separately with God, as if he would fain ingross to himself the whole of the divine goodness. What an affecting view is this of the power of selfishness, and of the infinite patience of God in bearing with it.

But the form under which this demon of evil work more insidiously and extensively, perhaps, than in any other way, is that of a worldly spirit—we will call it the love of money, or in other words the selfishness of the purse, by which many have pierced their souls through with many sorrows. The churches to day are filled with corruption in consequence of this selfishness, and they must cleanse themselves from these pollutions, before the cause of temperance can progress as it should do. For when we come to take a calm and dispassionate view of things as they are presented before our eyes, almost every hour of the day. Now, what do we hear proclaimed almost as often as we hear anything else? Why, instead of the world conforming to the church, the church is conforming to the world. This is a painful charge, but too plain for a shadow of doubt—beyond all contradiction.

It was the design of Christ in redeeming and saving his people, by the sacrifice of himself, to convince them that his interest and theirs were identical; that he and they were one; that to enjoy any prosperity distinct from the prosperity and glory of his kingdom was impossible. And by further proposing to employ their instrumentality for the enlargement of his kingdom he intended to give them an opportunity of evincing their love to his name, and of consecrating all the means they could abstract from the necessary demands of time, to the great cause of Salvation. It was only warrantable to expect, that the exhibition of his love, and the claims of his kingdom, coming with full force upon their hearts, would overwhelm all worldly considerations, that they would bring forth all their wealth, and present it with the ardent devotion of an offering; that henceforth they would desire to prosper in the world, only that they might have the more to lay at his feet; that they would instantly devise a plan of self-denial, each one for himself, the object of which should be to augment, to the utmost, their contributions to his cause; that nothing but the fruits of such self-denial would be dignified with the name of Christian charity, and that the absence of such self-denial and the consequent fruits of it, would be regarded as a forfeiture of the christian name; that the church, as "the bride, the Lamb's wife," would feel that she had, that she could have, no interest apart from his—that all her worldly possessions belonged to him, and that she would cheerfully and gratefully surrender them to him, wishing that, for his sake, they had been millions more.

To ask if such is not the conduct of the christian church of the present day (nine times out of ten at least) would be worse than trifling. "All seek their own, not the things that are Jesus Christ's" as if their interest and his were two opposite things, or as if they had never heard of the grace, the claims, or even the name of Christ. The great majority of christian professors may be seen, from age to age, pursuing their own ends as eagerly, and wasting their substance as selfishly, as the world around them. Thy seek their worldly prosperity. They know of nothing equal to that, everything is made to give way to that. The cause of Christ itself must wait for that, and is only held secondary to it. What! Neglect anything which tends to increase their gains,—they would deem themselves made to think of it, even though the salvation of an immortal soul had to wait in consequence. And thus, while God has to complain of them as slothful and unfaithful in his service, Mammon can beast of them as among his most diligent and devoted servants.

They seek their worldly ease and enjoyment. Self! self! is the idol to which they are perpetually sacrificing, the monster appetite they are continually feeding it, of consulting its voracious appetite, and ministering to its various gratifications, that but little is left for the cause of Christ. It is a "soul-wasting monster, that is fed and sustained at a dearer rate, and with more costly sacrifices and repasts, than can be paralleled by either sacred or other history; that hath made more desolation in the souls of men than ever was made in the countries where idols were served with only human sacrifices, or monstrous creatures satiated only with such food, or where the lives and safety of the majority were to be purchased by the constant tribute of the blood of not a few; that hath devoured more and prayed more cruelly upon human lives, than Moloch.

Now who is self, self, but Dives in the mansion, clothed in purple, and faring sumptuously every day, the cause of Christ, is Lazarus lying at his gate, and fed only with the crumbs which fall from his table.

Now, reader, do not charge me with digressing from my subject. This article is intened as a key to all my preceeding ones. I have already charged the horrible sin of drunkenness, through licensed whiskey, upon the temperate and christian portion of our community, which every honest and candid mind must admit. Then, why is it that the temperate christian portion of our land, are, in a great measure, the true supporters of the great demon—the license law. Is it not avarice—"money"—which, while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith and pierced themselves through with many sorrows? And how likely is it that Bunyan drew from presonal observation, when in his inimitable allegory, he describes the professed pilgrims—"Hold-the-world," "Money-love," "Save-all," and "By-ends"—(names, which still stand for living realities for the present moment,) as leaving the road, at the solicitation of a little hill called Lucre. "Now," he adds, "whether thy fill into the pit by looking over the brink thereof, or whether they went down to dig, or whether they were smothered in the bottom by the damps that commonly arise, of these things I am not certain; but this I observed, that they never were seen again in the way."

Now, a few words more as we conclude this article upon the quotation of the head. He does not say that he will never eat more. This were to destroy himself, and to commit a heinous sin, to prevent the sin and face of a brother. Such evil must not be done that good may come of it. But, though it was necessary to eat, it was not necessary to eat flesh, and, therefore, rather than occasion sin in a brother, he would abstain from it as long as he lived. He had such a value for the soul of a brother that he would willingly deny himself in a matter of liberty. (Can the christians of the present day claim this great property of charity, and if so, where is your fruit?) and forbear any particular food, which he might have lawfully eaten and might like to eat, rather than lay a stumbling block in a weak brother's way, and occasion him to sin, by following his example, without being clear in his mind whether it be lawful or no. We must not rigorously claim or use our own sights, to the hurt and ruin of a brother's soul, or to the injury of our Redeemer, who died for him.

But how often do we hear men say (and men of standing in society) I can take one, two, or three drinks of liquor per day and stop at that, keep sober and attend to my business. You may do so, such may be the power of a few, but great is your guilt in the sight of God. Look and behold what you have done. Your example and argument has been the means of sending many young men into the drunkard's grave. They, too, thought they could do the same, take one, two, or three drinks of liquor per day and stay sober and attend to their business, &c., but soon were they overwhelmed and drawn into the vortex of ruin, and you were the instrument in the hands of Satan in doing this. Now, if you have the power to take one, two, or three drinks per day, and stop there, could you not as easily abstain, and clear your own soul of the blood of your brother, for you may rest assured that this guilt is upon the great docket of heaven for every such soul that is lost, through your example.

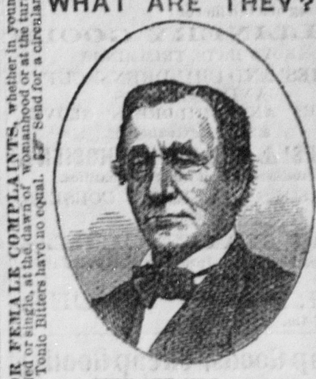
WHAT ARE THEY?



They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

WHITE FISH, Herring, Mackerel, &c., at BURNSIDE & THOMAS'.

The Chamois.

This animal which belongs to the antelope tribe, chiefly inhabits the Alps and Pyrences, and are found in flocks of from four to eighty, and even a hundred. It is about the size of the domestic goat, of a dusky, yellow brown color, with the cheeks, chin, throat and belly of a yellowish white. The horns are black, slender, upright, hooked backward at their tips, and about eight inches in height, and at the base of each there is a tolerably large orifice in the skin of which the use is unknown. Like all the entelope race, the chamois has sparkling and animated eyes. It feeds only on the finest herbage, and its flesh is of a delicate flavor. Their skins are very much used for polishing jewelry, silverware, cutlery, etc.

When alarmed, the Chamois hisses with such force that the rocks and forests re-echo, the note being very sharp at first, and becoming deeper toward the close. Having paused a moment, the animal looks round, and perceiving his apprehensions to be well founded, he again hisses with increased violence, at the same time striking the ground with his fore feet bounding from rock to rock, and evincing the utmost agitation, till the alarm is spread to a very considerable distance, and the whole flock provide for their safety by a precipitate flight. The hissing of the male is much louder than that of the female; it is performed through the nose; and is, strictly speaking no other than a very strong breath driven violently through a small apertuer.

Heat is so extremely disagreeable to these animals, that they are never seen during summer, except in the excavations of the rocks, amidst fragments of unmelted ice, or under the shade of hanging precipices, which face the north, and effectually keep off the rays of the sun. They drink but sparingly, and chew the cud in the intervals of feeding. Their agility is wonderful, as they will throw themselver down, across a rock, which is nearly perpendicular and twenty or thirty feet in height, without a single prop to support their feet. Their motion has, indeed rather the appearance of flying than of leaping. The Chamois hunters of the Alps are so fond of the occupation that it has almost become a mania, and they will brave every danger in pursuit of this animal.

Clever Trick.

The following amusing story is told of Wiertz, the celebrated German artist:

After having finished a portrait of the old aristocratic Countess de——, who pretended to be only thirty when nearly sixty, she refused to accept the painting, saying that it did not look anything like herself, and that her most intimate friends would not recognize a single feature of hers on that canvass. Wiertz smiled kindly at the remark, and, as a true knight, gallantly re-conducted the lady to her carriage. Next morning there was a grand disturbance in the Rue de la Madeline. A big crowd was gathered before a window, and the following words were whispered from ear to ear: "Is the Countes de——really in jail for her debts?" Wiertz had exercised a little vengence toward his noble but unfair customer. As soon as she had refused the portrait he set to work and painted a few iron bars on the picture, with these words: "In jail for debt." He exhibited the painting in a jeweler's window, in the principal street of Brussels, and the effect was instantaneous. A few hours later the Countess was back in Wiertz's studio, pouring invectives on him at high pressure—to have exhibited her likeness under such scandalous, etc., etc. "Most noble lady," was the artist's reply "you said the painting did not look anything like yourself, and that your most intimate friends would not recognize a single one of your features in the picture. I wanted to test the truth of that statement—that was all?" The portrit was taken away, the city laughed, the artist charged double price, and gave the amount to the poor of the city.

THE best thing to give your enemy is forgiveness; to your opponent, tolerance; to a friend, your heart; to your child, a good example; to a father, deference; to your mother, conduct that will make her proud of her son; to yourself, respect; to men, charity; to God, obedience.

WE should always rest satisfied with doing well, and let others talk of us as they please, for they can do us no injury, although they may think they have found a flaw in our proceedings, and are determined to rise on our downfall, or profit by our injury.

THE music of nature is heard in the air.

COMPLETION OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

GREAT RUSH TO STERNBERG'S.

Sung to the tune of Yankee Doodle.

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And now complete connections made,
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedy and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about
And wore out all their clothing.

CHORUS, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG,
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of Spring and Summer clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

People who travel by other routes, and also peoplewho, instead of travelling by any route at all, prefer to stay at home, can find the most superior and seasonable garments, for every occasion, of every variety, and at the lowest price.

HOME NEWS.

THE brick work on the new addition to the Academy at this place, is progressing rapidly.

LOST.—Between Bellefonte and Unionville, a morocco Medicine case. The finder will confer a favor by returning it to Dr. Harris.

JOHN IRWIN, Jr., has commenced the erection of a new stable, on the site of his old one destroyed by the late fire. It will be built of stone.

SOME more left of that cheap letter and note paper, selling at 10 cents per quire by James Welch, corner of Bishop and Allegheny streets. Call soon.

POTATOES are very scarce in the Bellefonte market, at present. The crop is large throughout the county, but 50 cents per bushel does not bring them into market very rapidly.

A Picuic will be held in Old Fort Grove, on Friday the 11th inst., which we presume will be a grand affair. Our invitation has not yet reached us, and we have concluded not to attend.

REV. J. W. BUCKLEY will preach in the M. E. Church, at this place on next Sabbath, August 13th, at which time the Lord's supper will be administered. A full attendence is respectfully requested.

THE Seller Zouaves and Unionville Cadets were in attendance at the Firemen's Picnic, on Friday last. Both companies are in a flourishing condition, and presented a very creditable appearance. Success to you, boys.

CHANGED HANDS.—The Bush House changed hands on Tuesday the 1st inst., Frank McClain retiring, and Clements & Lowrie assuming control. Under the new managers the house promises a largely increased patronage.

THE Logan Fire Co., in full uniform, with Hose Carriage proceeded on Saturday last to the car of C. M. Gleen, Photographer, where they had a negative of the Company taken. The REPUBLICAN office will of course, receive one of the prints. Send it in, Charley.

FOR cheap Dry Goods, Groceries, &c., go to the store of J. D. Miller, Esq., at Pleasant Gap, where you can get everything in his line at prices to suit the times. Mr. Miller is an accommodating and obliging merchant, and deals honestly and fairly with his customers, consequently they never forsake him.

COURT WEEK.—Court commences in this place on Monday, August 28th. As many of our subscribers will be in attendance, we would request those knowing themselves indebted for subscription, job work or advertising to call and settle for the same. We dislike to be dunning you so often, but we need our money and when we once get it then the "dunning" will stop.

A GIRL LOST.—On Friday of last week (28th ult.,) a deaf and dumb girl, who resides with her mother Mrs. Eliza Crounce, at Purdox Station, two miles above Marysville, Dauphin county, disappeared from her home, and although diligent search has been made, no information of her whereabouts has been received. The girl is ten years of age, wore a yellow colico dress, and a gingham apron; her complexion is light, eyes dark blue, and hair black. Information concerning her where-abouts would greatly relieve her distressed mother.

A STORY is told of an editor who died, went to Heaven, but was denied admittance, lest he should meet some delinquent subscribers, and bad feelings be engendered in that peaceful clime. Having to go somewhere, the editor next appeared in the regions of darkness, but was positively refused admittance, as the place was full of delinquent subscribers. Wearily the editor turned back to the Celestial city, and was met by the watchman at the portals with a smile, who said: "I was mistaken; you can enter—there is not a delinquent subscriber in Heaven!"

FIREMEN'S PIC NIC.—At about 8 o'clock A. M., on last Friday the 4th inst., the red Jackets of the Logan Hose Company, were seen busily hurrying to and fro through the streets of our city. At half past 9 the company were out in full uniform, with their hose carriage most handsomely decorated with wreaths of evergreen and flowers, and decorations of other design—which was a favorable commend- to the skilled hands of the lady committee that wrought the work—stationed in front of the Bush House, for some minutes to stand the fire of the camera, of Bellefonte's fine artist C. M. Glenn, which resulted in a fine looking photograph of company, hose carriage and all. After the arrival of the train, which brought with it the Sellers Zouaves and Unionville Cadets, two as fine military companies as you can find in the State, they all moved to a point near the Logan Mills, the one designated for the forming of the procession. At half past 10 A. M., the procession was on the line of march through the principal streets of the town, making a fine appearance, marching in good time to the martial music, of the Buffalo Run and Unionville bands, aided by Wm. P. Harpster, Esq., of Philipsburg, who for blowing on a fife, has few equals. The procession arrived at the grove just opposite Shortlidge's lime kilns, just in time to draw a full breath and cool down a little, the temperature excited by the march, before indulging in a most elegant dinner, that had already been prepared and offered an almost resistless temptation to the keen appetites of the party. The dinner having been gone through with, and all wearing an air of satisfaction, the real enjoyment and fun and frolic of the occasion just began. The starting up of the string band, composed of Messrs. Smith & Cline, of our town, accompanied by Messrs. Sheid and Young of Lock Haven, with such music, that tempted every foot in the grove to give a sort of a quiet involuntary shake, and caused the lovers of the Terpsichorean art to at once break for the fine large platform that had been erected underneath the shade of a couple of large oaks, for the occasion, where the pleasures of the dance were freely and gracefully indulged in all afternoon. At the leaving of the train in the afternoon the military companies, mostly retired from the festivities of the day and were escorted to the depot, by a number of the fire company. The pleasures of the day did not cease with the going down of the sun, but many of our youthful lovers of fun and gayety, who were deprived of participating during the day, repaired to the grove in the evening, where the mirth and pleasure of the day were continued until a late hour in the night. The ice cream and lemonade stands were liberally potronized, and yielded a handsome revenue to the Fire Company. The whole was a day of real pleasure, and all the exercise characterized by the best order and decorum. We take pleasure in congratulating the Logan Hose Company on their success.

"IT becomes our duty to chronicle one of those accidents involving the loss of life, which from the suddenness could not be averted by human foresight. On Monday last, as John R. Burkert residig 3½ miles north easlt of the city was returning from the fied with a load of oats, a breast chain broke while descending a hill, thereby precipitating wagon, horse and driver over an almost perpendicular precipice of 30 feet. In the fall he was lodged under wagon and horses, and although still conscious could not be extricated until life was extinct. Strange to say, neither of the horses were injured in the fall.

Mr. Burkert was a highly esteemed citizen and his loss will be sensibly felt in the community. He leaves a widow and four children."

We clip the above from the Radical, of the 27th of July published in Richmond, Indiana. John R. Burkert was the son of George Burkert, of Rebersburg, Miles township, this county. He left Miles township for the State of Indiana in the spring of 1863. From that time until the day of his death, he was in a prosperous condition, and was every day adding to his daily store. But how sudden his taking off. Truly it may be said in the midst of life we are in death. This sudden death comes to us as a warning, saying to us "Be ye also ready for ye know not the day nor the hour when the son of man cometh." We sympathise with the bereaved friends, and are rejoiced to hear that they mourn not as those without hope, for J. R. Burkert was a christian.

E. GRAHAM & SON, have re-opened their shoe store in the room formerly occupied by Wm. Savage, opposite Linn & Wilson's Drug store, where they are prepared to accommodate you with shoes &c., of all styles and fashions. Their stock has been largely increased and customers cannot fail to be suited by giving them a call.

Geo. O'Bryan's Furniture store can also be found in the same room where he continues to keep for sale, everything in the furniture line, since the fire Mr. O'Bryan opens business with increased energy, and from his present stock, selections can be made, suitable for all classes and conditions. Go and see his stock.

PENNSVALLEY ITEMS.

Hains twp., situated in the lower part of Pennsvally is truely a great twp. It is rich, and fertile, and her farmers are first class. The only trouble with Hains is, a few too many Democrats. We noticed one by the way, who appears to be a little ahead of his Democratic neighbors. His name is Aaron Duttwiler. He has built himself a splendid house, which is about finished. It is a model and proves that Mr. Duttwiler, is up to the times—in advance of his party and a live man generally. It does a person good to look at his stock.

David S. Krape, is one of Haines twp., choicest spirits, and any stranger passing the road and looking at his farm, his house, his barn, his fences, his improvements, his horses and cattle, in fact the general appearance of everything, would at once come to the conclusion that Mr. Krape, was not only a first class farmer but an intelligent out-and-out Republican. His whole face beams with intelligence and firmness, and reminds us of that passage of scripture which says that "a mans wisdom causes his face to shine." At the out-break of the war Mr. Krape raised the "Old flag" in front of his barn, and gave every body notice not to molest it or take it down. His language really was. "If any man attempts to haul down the American flag, shoot him on the spot."

Woodward is a beautiful village situated in the lower end of Haines twp. It is a beautiful place, containing several nice residences, and one of the best water powers in the county. Indeed if we except the water power in and about Bellefonte, we think there is nothing to surpass it.

Saml. Weidnesaul, is an excellent man and the proprietor of the Motz grist and saw mills. He is also the happy possesor of one of the finest residences in the place. It is as yet new; but when the trees and shrubbery come to perfection it will be a perfectparadise. He has also one of the nicest horses it has ever been our pleasure to behold. The horse is a French Canadian—a perfect beauty and as gentle as a lamb. He values him highly.

Shem Spigelmyer & Sons, are the active and energetic merchants of this beautiful villiage. Their store-room is large and beautiful, and well filled with every variety of goods. These gentlemen understand their business and deem it a pleasure to wait upon their numerous customers.

The Messrs Mitchell & Motz, have a steam saw-mill near Woodward where thousands of feet of lumber are prepared for market every day. It is the life of the town. Howard Mitchell, one of the firm has built himself a residence not equalled in Pennsvalley, everything about it is convenient. Frederick Mitchell, Esq., also, has a beautiful brick residence which shows that he is a man of fine taste, and a good Republican.

Henry Hess, J. C. Motz, John Frederick, David Fees, Esqs., and the widow Motz, all have comfortable and beautiful homes showing that they appreciate the good things of this life, and the magnificent church and school house go to show that they all realize that there is a better, a happier and a holier place to which we are all tending.

One of the great conveniences in this town for strangers and travelers, is the excellent Hotel, of which our old friend Geo. Miller, is proprietor. He is a good landlord—keeps an excellent house. No traveler can growl at the accommodations of the Miller House.

We were pleased to see our estimable friend M. M. Musser, who is engaged in the mercantile business two miles westward from Woodward, at Hubler's old stand. Mr. Musser is very much of gentleman, has a good stock of goods and the best of all is, a magnificent run of custom. We were astonished to see such a store in the country.

Aaronsburg is a beautiful and moral town in Haines twp., that gives a small Republican majority. It contains three churches, one Hotel, two free schools and one Academy. The Principal of the Academy is a Virginian by birth and a graduate of one of the best Colleges in the country. He has about 40 students. We are sorry we have forgotten his name.

The Hotel is kept by Mr. Bobp. He is an accomodating landlord and the land-lady Mrs. Bobp is an estimable woman and a first class cook. We must say that it is the place to get a good square meal.

Aaronsburg contains many elegant and comfortable residences. We cannot name all. Only a few, to wit: Col. Jas. P. Coburn, Dr. P. T. Musser, William Stover, Dr. Deshler, Hon. J. G. Meyer, Mrs. Kline, Emanuel Ettenger, Wm. Condo and a number of others. We are sorry we did not learn the names of all the owners of fine residences in this place—there are two stores in Aaronsburg. One an excellent store kept by Messrs. Mingle & Son. The other by our Democratic friend, and candidate for County Treasurer, Thos. Yearick. They are both good stores, and our friend Wm. Mingle is a model young man—a good business man, and we are sorry to say—a Democrat. With his talents he would make a good Republican and rise to high honors in the party. The Post Master is John Cronemiller, Esq., an honest and pure man, a true Republican and a brave soldier. It would be a great blessing if we had one hundred such men in Haines twp. Aaron Weaver, a scientific farmer who resides east of Aaronsburg has a beautiful farm well cultivated, a splendid brick mansion, Shrubbery, Grapes and everything in fact that the heart of man could wish. Just opposite this is the farm and residence of Jesse Wert. Every thing is magnificent, and Jesse prides himself on having the best horses in the twp.—On the West of Aaronsburg is the farm of our live Republican friend J. H. Musser. His farm, his stock, his crops, his buildings are hard to beat. He lives at home. He is liberal and benevolent, a true friend of the Church and of the Sabbath School.

Major Isaac Stover, our old and true friend is now engaged in supplying Aaronsburg, Sugar Valley and Pennsvally with the best of beef, mutton, &c.

For the REPUBLICAN.

MR. EDITOR.—Chance having placed me on board the B. E. V. Express on the evening of the 28th of July, I there saw one of the most pleasing sights it has ever been my pleasure to see. This beautiful sight was some thirty or forty soldiers orphans, males and females, on their way home from school to spend the time during vacation. They were as happy, well-behaved, mannerly and respectable looking group of children, I ever have seen on any occasion. All plainly uniformed, (according to sex) but neatly clothed, and all appeared to enjoy themselves as though they all belonged to the same family. Many widowed mothers, hearts were made glad on that evening, when they had the pleasure of clasping their darlings once more to their hearts. I felt proud, first, that I was a native of Centre county, for it was in the prolific brain of one of Centre's noble sons that originated the idea and plan of the State taking charge of, feeding, clothing and educating the orphan children of those patriotic soldiers that fell pierced by democratic rebel bullets, or died of the more painful and lingering disease engendered in the camp, or over exertion on the battle field, or worse still, were systematically starved to death in democratic rebel prison pens.

Secondly, that I was a native of the glorious old Keystone State, that has become a father to the fatherless in thus taking charge of these orphans.

Thirdly, that I am a native of the U. S. of America, the best government ever devised by man, and that is a husband to the widow in generously supporting her in her lonely condition, and last, but not least, that I am and always have been a member of the patriotic Republican party that brought about these results; the party that stood up firm and unflinching during the dark days of the democratic rebel war—I say democratic rebel warfare it is a notorious fact patent to every thinking man or woman and a fact that cannot be successfully denied—that the leaders of the Democratic party were, and still are, either in open or secret sympathy with the enemies of our country. Will we trust these men with the reins of government, although they, in order to obtain power, come cringing and Judas Iscairat-like, pretend to be in favor of the amendments to the Constitution—negro suffrage included? Will we trust them? Never, no, never!

MESSRS. EDITORS.—Having received an invitation to attend a Picnic, at Pleasant Gap, on the 29th ult., given by the school at that place, under the management of their teacher Miss Amelia English, of Milroy, which we accepted, and of course put in an appearance. The weather, in the morning was very discouraging to the picnicers, but by noon it being more favorable, scholars and all met at the school house, and from there proceeded to the woods of E. W. Gettle, where they had a splendid time, good supper, with lots of nice cakes, and two whole tubs of lemonade. The lemons and sugar were furnished by our general friend J. D. Miller, Esq., of this place.

The school term just closed, proved a very successful one. The average attendance of scholars being about 65, all of whom were present at the Picnic; besides these about 75 adults joined in the festivities of the day.

A platform having been erected in the grove, dancing was the next in order after supper, in which all participated until a late hour at night. The music was furnished by Messrs. Jordan and Noll. Everything passed off pleasantly, and all enjoyed themselves hugely.

Yours &c.

COACH MAKER.—It is with pleasure we chronicle the fact that Charles W. Albright, continues the business of coach making in Millheim, Pa. Mr. Albright is an enterprising, energetic young man, and without exaggeration, one of the best mechanics in the county. People who want buggies, carriages, or sulkies will save money by sending their orders to him.

ALTOONA'S Third Annual Fair will be held at that place on the 12th, 13th, 14th and 15th of September next.

S. S. PIC NIC.—On Saturday the 29th ult., there assembled some seven Sabbath schools, from all parts of Buffalo Run Valley, in the fine grove a short distance south of Filmore, right on the public road running through the valley, for the purpose of holding a grand S. S. Picnic. About half past 10 o'clock A. M., one standing in the grove, on the lookout, would have been entertained with the pleasing sight of school after school arriving with banners flying, covered with appropriate mottos, and with faces, both old and young, all aglow in anticipation of the pleasure of the day, they continued to arrive until there were fully five hundred persons on the ground The martial band played well and was much in place in the morning; butwere a little indiscreet in starting up their music in the afternoon, which interfered somewhat with the regular programme of exercises. After some devotional exercise, and some elegant music sang by the various schools, the provision baskets were sought after with great eagerness by all present, and the little folks especially seemed to enjoy that part of the exercise more heartily than any other. After about an hour's intermission, during which time, every body had the opportunity to smile on and shake hands with his or her neighbor and their friends, and the little people disport themselves playfully, the Picnic was called to order by H. L. Harvey, Esq. Two or three pieces were then sang by the different schools in order, after which a very neat and appropriate address was made by Rev. E. W. Lamb. Further singing then ensued, when Rev. Ganoe was introduced, who entertained the audience with a curt and practical speech. Then followed a song from each of the schools in order, which were sung with a spirit, and which closed the exercises of the day. The weather in the morning was wet and unpropitious, but soon cleared off and the sun shone out beautifully the remainder of the day, drying up the dampness of the rain and making the grove cheerful and lovely for the occasion. The picnic was no doubt a great success, and so much enjoyed by every one present that they were loth to quit the grounds, to return to their homes. We heartily approve of those S. S. Picnic's and gala days of social gathering, as they necessarily give encouragement, and a fresh impetus to the great S. S. Work.

OBSERVER.

L. D. APSLEY, Esq., the gentlemanly agent for that staunch firm, Messrs. Stewart, Marks & Co., manufacturers and wholesale dealers in tobacco, cigars, &c., 115 Arch street, Philadelphia, called to see us yesterday, and, as usual, did not fail to leave, in our possession, for safe keeping, another box of a new and choice brand of cigars, for which he will please accept our thanks. "May his shadow never grow less" or his offerings to the poor (printer) never cease.

THREE very refreshing showers visited this place on Monday night last.

DIED.

On the 24th ult., in Half Moon twp., Robert Elder, aged 86 years, 3 month and 15 days.

On the 2nd inst., near Fagleville, George, youngest Son of Benjamin and Sarah P. Liggett, aged 7 months and 23 days.

On the 28th ult., at his residence in Potter twp., Thos. J. Stover Esq., aged 68 years, 9 month and 18 days.

Now no vigils need be keeping
Weary watches through the nigh
Silently the form is sleeping
Whence his spirit took its flight.

Long, fond nature, strove in anguish
'Gainst disease, in martal strife,
But at last she let him languish
Into everlasting life.

Here are pains and grief and sorrow
Ere we cross the narrow flood;
Comfort we as he may borrow
From the Savior's precious blood.

Let us then, a lesson learning
From the Father that has died,
Have our lamps all trimmed and burning
When He comes to meet the "bride."

S. L. S.

On Thursday, August 3d, Mrs. Rachael J. Burnside, widow of the late Judge Burnside, of Centre county, and eldest daughter of Hon. Simon Cameron, in the 48th year of her age.

After a long and lingering illness, in which physical suffering and mental solicitude combined to test the endurance of the patient and afflict the loving watchers who constantly hovered around her, Mrs. Rachel Burnside has passed from the abodes of the living, left the scenes now hallowed by the memories of her moral worth, her Christian purity and her charities, to take her place where her earthly perfections will assume the shape fitted for the realization and enjoyment of the blessings she earned. There is something so noble, exalted and impressive in the passing away of such a spirit, that we dare not call it death. When the pure and the good die, then it is that all minds, alike those filled with faith and those just able to comprehend the fact, love to contemplate the certainties of the future, and to accept the going hence of a spirit, as the sublime illustrations of a theology which is all truth and glory. Mrs. Burnside was of the true type of the Christian lady, wife and mother. She was a model of humility before her God, and of energy before the community. Her left hand never knew what the right did, and the right was never idle in charity's doing. What she did was well done—she soothed the afflicted by acts of kindness, wielded her influence by clear example, and won to her confidence all with whom she came in contact. She bestowed her charities like the honest who pay their debts, because she believed it was her duty to do so; and while duty guided her action, she softened and beautified its performance, because she was guided in its discharge by that exalted love of the right which is the never-fading glory of the true and the good. She ornamented her religion by the fruits of her daily life. In the church, as in the world, she was practical, content only when achieving—regarding of all things to be avoided that of a passive life—cheerless, because barren. When the mind becomes older, and its appredation of the lofty and the beautiful in character is intensified by experience, it will erect monuments to such as these, and teach its children ever to keep in view the memory of their example, that good may follow emulation.
